

Y12 Summer Homework

“It’s not the ‘quake what kills you it’s the poverty” Assess the extent to which this statement is true.

Using a variety of different earthquakes from around the world answer this question. Your answer should take the form of an essay ie continuous prose but you may also wish to include relevant maps, data tables and images to help you make your argument(s). You should aim to produce something which is 2-3 sides of A4 in length